Dear Mr Axtens,

Thank you for your letter highlighting concerns about the data interoperability standards published on the ICT Strategy website.

The data interoperability standards form part of a broader Information Management Framework. The Framework is made up of policies, guidelines and standards which will continue to develop and evolve over time, to support identified priorities for data sharing and integration. Additional standards will be identified and endorsed during 2015.

I am happy to discuss the Information Management Framework with you if you require further information.

Regards
